

February Sale, 13-15

Midwinter Event of Merchants to Be First Since 1941; Super Values Are Promised; 50 Participate

Resumption of the annual February sale by Kingston's progressive merchants has been announced and will take place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 13, 14 and 15. Prior to the war Kingston merchants held an annual February Sale but with the advent of the war time shortage of merchandise and other restrictions the sale was discontinued.

Resumption of the February sale which was discontinued in 1941 also brings a new name for the big event. It will be known as "Kingston Days" and participating in the sale will be over fifty merchants and firms. The sale will be city-wide and all types of merchandise will be included in the sale.

Plans have been under way for some time for the big Kingston Days Sale and in many instances stocks of merchandise have been supplemented for the event. Merchants promise "real super-values" and in Tuesday's issue of The Freeman will appear the advertisements of the Kingston merchants, making public some of the featured items which will be on sale. In addition to those which will appear in the advertisements there will be many others which space and time will not permit being carried in the limited advertisements.

Stores will be open at the usual hours during the Kingston Days sale.

Stanton Statement Brings Attack by Martocci on Point On Legality Admissibility

Judge Watkins Hears Arguments in His Chambers Without Jury; Martocci Argues Duress Angle for Stanton

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—A statement made by William T. Stanton, 46, an O.P.A. investigator of Kingston, who is on trial in federal court with two other men on charges of conspiracy to violate sugar rationing regulations, was attacked in court late yesterday.

When court resumed after the luncheon recess, Francis Martocci of Kingston, attorney for Stanton, moved that a statement made on June 16, 1945 by Stanton in connection with the present case not be admitted as evidence because,

House Would View All 'Racketeering'

May Send Subcommittees Into Field to Check Labor Situation

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The House Labor Committee, which started out to write a new labor law, sought today to broaden its hearings into a $50,000 investigation of "all complaints of union racketeering."

Chairman Hartley (R-N.J.), told reporters that if the House grants the money, the committee also will "make any other investigations into the entire labor situation which would help in writing a bill."

This, he said, would involve sending subcommittees into the field to look into complaints. Three days ago he disclosed plans to send out investigators who will get the views of rank-and-file union men on labor legislation. The committee's new plan last night after hearing testimony from eight witnesses representing Philadelphia fruit and vegetable dealers.

These witnesses, testifying under oath, said officials of local 929 of the A.F.L. Transfers Union had "coerced" and "intimidated" them and virtually shut down the Philadelphia Wholesale Produce Market.

Hartley also disclosed he was sending a telegram to the F.B.I. and the Philadelphia director of public safety, asking "complete protection for the witnesses because these men are seriously afraid of physical violence."

Hartley said the committee had authorized him to send the telegram and to ask the House leadership to support a House appropriation of $50,000 for the special investigation.

Lewis C. James, legislative representative of the A.F.L., told reporters the produce dealers were "trying to put over a smear against the union."

James also addressed the committee after yesterday's hearing.

Price Is Sought

30,000 Dairy Men Ask $5.02 for Cwt. for Fluid Milk in New York

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Some 30,000 upstate dairy men seek a static price of $5.02 per hundredweight for fluid milk sold in the New York city area during the next four months.

On their behalf, A. D. Hakes, secretary of the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, Inc., sent petitions yesterday to Secretary of Agriculture, Claude R. Anderson and State Agriculture Commissioner C. Chester DuMont. The price request was authorized by delegates from the 48 cooperatives which make up the agency.

Hakes said the return to producers would decline sharply March 1 under the metropolitan milk marketing order.

Von Hessen Feels He Is Better Off

Queen Victoria's Great Grandson Has Become Philosophical After 41 Months in Jail

Hopes for Hearing Would Like Hearing On Denazification by End of 1947

Darmstadt, Germany, Feb. 8 (AP)—Queen Victoria's great grandson ate a meal of watery soup from a tin pail today and counted himself luckier than most of the 11,240 hungry former Nazis in "Camp Despair."

"After 20 months imprisonment under Hitler and 21 months under the Americans," said frail, wizened Prince Philip von Hessen, "I have learned how to take it."

In a crowded former coal bin of the headquarters of the Darmstadt German civil internment enclosure, dubbed "Camp Despair" by its inmates, the 50-year-old nobleman sat on his wooden bunk and listed these gifts of fortune:

1. Because of his seniority as a prisoner, he sleeps with a few score others in the warm basement of a building instead of in an icy canvas tent like thousands.

2. Called as a witness at the Dachau Trial of Flossenburg Concentration Camp guards, he spent a month in the Dachau Hospital "where the food was very good, for a change."

3. U. S. Ambassador Robert Murphy relayed a letter to him from his parents-in-law, former King Vittorio Emanuele of Italy and his ex-queen, now living in exile in Alexandria, Egypt. It was the first news he had received from them in many months.

"The Darmstadt enclosure, ringed by barbed and armed outposts, is a grim answer to claims by anti-American propagandists that 'denazification is a farce' in the U. S. zone."

Operated by the State of Greater Hesse, with 570 poorly paid German guards, the enclosure, for men only, is entirely dependent on the German economy and its food ration theoretically is supposed to equal the outside scale of 1,550 calories daily.

Prison hospital physicians have reported 30 cases of partial atrophy of sexual organs because of starvation. Cases of sickness attributed to inadequate shelter during the winter ran into thousands.

The enclosure got its nickname, "Despair," when inmates discovered its nine denazification courts had completed only 658 cases in five months and reckoned it would take eight years, at this rate, to give all a hearing.

Neatly groomed in pre-war clothes—he had washed himself with a precious bit of ersatz soap—Prince Philip said he hoped his turn for a denazification hearing might come before the end of 1947.

Although he joined the Nazi Party in 1930, the law will allow him to request leniency, for he ultimately was persecuted by the Nazi government.

Imprisoned by Hitler "Hitler had me thrown into solitary confinement in Flossenburg in September, 1943, because of the Italian capitulation and my connection with the royal family," he said.

But the cruel twist was when Gestapo kidnapers lured my wife, Princess Mafalda, from the Vatican to the German Embassy in Rome, pretending I was telephoning her from Germany. She had just seen our four children on her return from the funeral of my brother-in-law, King Boris of Bulgaria.

"I was still in solitary confinement when she was taken by a bombing at Buchenwald in 1944. A slanderous lie has been spread that I betrayed her to save myself."

On a shelf above his bunk, the prince keeps a photograph of his dead wife, wearing a lila from the $1,500,000 dollar collection of Jesse Crown Jewels, the ones stolen after the war.

Since the start of the Second World War, he has had no communication of any sort with members of the English Royal Family and does not expect to have any "because they are, of course, in an exposed public position."

Charges Are Made Nuernberg, Feb. 8 (AP)—The United States formally charged five German industrialists with war crimes today in an indictment linking the business brains of the Third Reich with the worst deeds of the politicians and generals.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief American prosecutor, served the indictment against Friedrich Flick, 63-year-old industrialist who had vast power, and four men associated with Flick in a farflung iron and steel enterprise.

Marshall Says U. S. Must Back Up World Policy With Military Power; Urges Truth to Offset Propaganda

Taft Says G.O.P. Can Give Up Hope Of Changing Trade

Says He Feels President Would Veto Measure Curbing Power of State Department

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio), said today the Republicans may as well give up hope of changing the administration's reciprocal trade program at this session of Congress.

The Ohioan, who is chairman of the Senate G.O.P. Policy Committee, told a reporter he is sure President Truman would veto any bill to limit the tariff-lowering authority of the State Department.

And he said there is no possibility that the necessary two-thirds vote could be mustered in both House and Senate to override a veto.

"For practical purposes," Taft said, "we can't do anything about the reciprocal trade program until next year when the present law expires. Enough Democrats are certain to go along with the President to prevent repeal of the law or any material change in it."

Nevertheless, Taft made it clear he does not subscribe to the compromise trade proposals put forward yesterday by Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Millikin (R-Colo.), chairman of the Senate G.O.P. Conference.

In brief, Vandenberg and Millikin proposed that the President exercise the power they said he already has to override inclusion in trade pacts of tariff cuts, that threaten damage to American industry.

They proposed also that "escape" clauses be put in agreements with foreign nations, by which the President could modify or wipe out cuts that "peril" business at home.

Paul H. Nitze, deputy director of the State Department's Office of International Trade Policy, said in Denver that the administration has decided to include such an escape clause in all future reciprocal trade agreements.

In an address for delivery to the Colorado Mining Association Nitze said the escape clauses will be similar to that in the trade agreement with Mexico which permits either government to cancel a tariff concession if "serious injury to domestic producers threatens to result."

Secretary of State Marshall told a news conference yesterday the proposals indicated the development of a bipartisan economic policy paralleling the bipartisan approach to international political affairs. He said the suggestions will be studied very carefully by the State Department.

But Taft said he thinks the Vandenberg-Millikin compromise doesn't go much to those who feel that Congress ought to take back part of the tariff authority it has delivered to the executive branch.

"Even if the President puts into effect all of the suggestions made today," the Ohio senator said, "I don't think they will remove any of the substantial objection to the reciprocal trade agreements program."

When the issue came up for a decision next year, he said he will propose that the fixing of rates be turned over to the Tariff Commission under specific limits fixed by Congress.

Plastic Surgery Gives Boy New Start, His Crimes Behind

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 8 (AP)—David Ruge, once called he "Ape-Boy," today turned his new face toward a new life.

The 17-year-old Chicago boy, his formerly ugly features remodeled by a Grand Rapids plastic surgeon, will head home tomorrow on Monday, with the blight of his past attempts at crime behind him.

"I'm glad to be on my way home," said Ruge, who last year admitted trying to extort money for the necessary operation—without charge. "My face looks fine, and the doctor says it's going to look a lot better."

He said he would return to his job with a Chicago Glass Company, no longer fearful of taunts of fellow workers.

The youth posed for his first post-operative pictures yesterday, and the improvement by Dr. Smith was plain. Nearly gone were the misshapen features that once had given him a ferocious appearance.

"There has not been sufficient time for a complete reorganization of the boy's face and ears," Dr. Smith explained, "but I am thoroughly pleased with his progress toward recovery."

Ruge wore a three inch bandage on his head, but otherwise scars of the operation were barely visible.

The Chicago youth appeared in court on a charge of attempting to extort $1,000 from his employer. When he explained that he wanted the money for plastic surgery, Ohio industrialists and others raised a fund to pay for the operation.

Ruge was placed on four years probation and last month came to Grand Rapids for the surgery.

Mrs. Helen Ruge, 37, stayed here with her son during his convalescence.

Snowstorm Clogs New York; All Airline Flights Are Off

Stanton Says 3,066 Are Idle in City

Also Sees Public Resistance to High Prices; Cites Industrial Reports

An increase of 1187 unemployed workers on the registration rolls of the New York State Employment Service office in Kingston cannot be ascribed to "seasonal layoffs," George J. Stanton, N.Y.S.E.S. district manager, said today.

A mild business recession has already hit Kingston in the opinion of Mr. Stanton, who predicted the situation would get worse before conditions level off.

The November 1946 files of his office listed 1879 unemployed but by January 30 a total of 2066 were registered, Mr. Stanton said. Shut-downs and some seasonal layoffs will increase this total, he believes.

"There is a general buying resistance on the part of the consuming public to high prices," he asserted, "and during the next six months there will be less buying and more unemployed from all present signs."

Mr. Stanton's prediction for the future was based on reports from several local industries. Only at the Hercules Powder plant in Port Jervis was there a note of optimism.

Edmund P. Rochford, superintendent of the plant, said that increased construction throughout the country has increased the demand for blasting caps for dynamite.

Various factors have contributed to high unemployment registration. "Seasonal layoffs" in the cigar industry have affected 50 workers at the J. Back Company and 150 at Van Slyke and Horton's, and at brickyards and boat yards.

Another plant has shut down due to death in the management, causing 20 workers to be laid off. The Pilgrim Furniture Company, which has been in a labor controversy, has laid off 60 workers due to lack of orders for their product.

The smaller garment factories have been unable to market their products and employees have been laid off. Large concerns like

Cold Wave Is Extended From Wyoming to East; Troopers Warn of Icy Roads

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—A swirling snowstorm, heaviest of the winter, clogged the city's streets with a mantle more than five inches deep today, slowing some trains, forcing cancellation of all domestic and foreign flights from LaGuardia Field and creating a monumental snow removal task for an emergency force of 7,500 men.

The fall began shortly after midnight and the weather bureau predicted another inch or two might be added before the storm ended at noon.

Morning temperatures were in the 20's. Lightning flashes and thunder claps accompanied the freak storm at the start.

A low pressure area along the Atlantic coast delayed the departure of a cold front to sea, the weather bureau said. Strong winds from the north added to the weather mixup on a day which was expected to produce only occasional snow.

Snow also fell over most of the state, leaving from 12 inches on the ground at Ticonderoga to 2 1/2 inches at Albany. Canton, in northern New York, had seven inches. Buffalo, six, and Rochester, three.

State police listed all roads open but slippery.

Lowest overnight temperatures ranged from one above at Syracuse to 23 degrees at LaGuardia Field.

Colder weather was predicted for tonight in eastern New York and continued cold in the western part of the state.

No Geographic Favorites

Chicago, Feb. 8 (AP)—Winter showed no geographic favorites today. As a lingering cold wave extended from Wyoming to the eastern seaboard, snow fell in Georgia; the mercury tumbled to below zero in North Dakota and Ohio; to near zero in Kentucky; and lightning flashes as snow fell in New York city.

It was chilly in Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, too. The cold air mass which swept over the Midwest yesterday, although moderating, spread southward to the Gulf coast and the upper Rio Grande valley. Florida, which earlier this week, felt the sting of freezing weather escaped the new cold wave and the early morning temperature in Miami was 65.

But there still was cold and windy weather in the North Central region, and the Eastern section, although the winds moderated considerably, compared to yesterday's gales in the Midwest.

Snow, accompanied by winds of about 15 miles an hour, fell near the Eastern Seaboard and temperatures in the area from Washington to New York were about 25 above.

The heaviest fall of winter was reported in a large part of the New York Metropolitan area. The fall measured nearly five inches in seven hours and continued falling this morning; extra men and trucks probably would be called to augment the day shift of 7,500 Sanitation Department workers to clean the streets.

Only flurries of snow blew in the Midwest cold belt but there remained high drifts throughout the region with many roads blocked after yesterday's storm.

The severe cold weather of the last week had made idle thousands of workers as scores of inches of snow over most of the state.

Picard May Give New Portal Ruling Before Day Ends

All American Industry and Labor Watching Case; Government Is Interested

Detroit, Feb. 8 (AP)—All the nation looked expectantly toward Detroit and a federal judge's ruling in a pay dispute.

There was a possibility the verdict of Judge Frank A. Picard in the celebrated Mt. Clemens Pottery Co. portal pay case would be handed down.

Judge Picard himself was making no promises. In court circles, however, it was hinted he might be in position to announce his decision before the day was over.

Against its towering background of nearly $5,000,000 in portal-to-portal pay claims by labor, the meaningful case approached its moment of decision with all American industry and labor attentive.

The U. S. Government, aware of its significance to many more billions in wartime cost-plus contracts with industry, was a watchful onlooker as well.

The task of Judge Picard, who first dealt with the Mt. Clemens Pottery workers pay claims five years ago, was to determine the amount of compensable walking time and "make ready" time of the plaintiffs.

This, in the popular terminology, is portal-to-portal time.

When the U. S. Supreme Court sent the case back to Judge Picard, it was for a fifth ruling in a court fight which has battled its place beside noteworthy battles of America's legal history.

So far a court-appointed master in Chancery and the U. S. District Court, Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, and the Supreme Court had played parts in the drama.

The Supreme Court, in effect, overruled Judge Picard's original holding that the pottery workers were entitled to overtime pay.

The Circuit Court of Appeals also overruled Judge Picard on overtime, but the Supreme Court injected the party pay issue.

It sent the case back to him, directing him to determine how much compensable portal time was involved and whether this might be of "de minimus" nature—too trifling for the law's concern.

Industry asked dismissal on the grounds of "de minimus." Judge Picard, in 1943, awarded the pottery workers seven minutes overtime, acting on their contention they began work ahead of the starting whistle. (The suit was started the year before.)

Whatever Judge Picard's decision, it appeared inevitable that the Supreme Court would be given back the case.

The government, joining with industry in a fight against the portal pay theory, said it would appeal in any event.

A last legal maneuver in the case was made yesterday by Edward Lamb, attorney who represented the pottery workers. Lamb filed notice of appeal from Judge Picard's permission to the government to be a party to the suit.

Jersey Gets Snow Newark, N. J., Feb. 8 (AP)—The season's heaviest snowstorm struck New Jersey early today, depositing a blanket of from five to seven inches of snow over most of the state.

Asks Training Program to Bolster Armed Forces of Nation for Security

No Disarmament

State Department Will Start Broadcasting to Russia Feb. 17

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Diplomatic officials today viewed Secretary Marshall's first major policy statement as a guarantee of determined counter-measures against Soviet world propaganda and attempts to link atomic energy control with disarmament.

Marshall declared the United States must back up its foreign policy with real military power until there is "peace with a dependable basis of collective security."

That, he said, means there must be a universal military training program to supply the armed services with manpower.

He told a press conference he does not agree with the Russian view that atomic energy control can be dealt with as a part of the disarmament question. In any case there can be no disarmament until there is international security, Marshall said.

Without mentioning Russia by name, he said the State Department must blanket the earth with truth in the midst of a riot of propaganda. If the United States continues to give the world an accurate statement of its position, Marshall declared, others will accept the truth in the end.

The State Department is preparing to beam its first broadcast of news and other programs to Russia on February 17.

Gurney's Comment Chairman Gurney (R-S.D.), of the Senate Armed Services Committee, commenting on Marshall's remarks to newsmen about military power said:

"Universal military training on a basis that provides actual protection for this country is a prime necessity at once."

He added he expects the administration to send the enabling legislation to Congress soon.

Covers Wide Range Marshall covered a wide range in his 40-minute press conference statement yesterday. He said:

1. The State Department still insists that Argentina drive out Nazi influence and refugees, as demanded a year ago.

2. The United States will not accept suggestions by Russia, Britain and Australia that its plan for a United Nations trusteeship for Pacific Islands under American administration be postponed until a Japanese peace settlement is made. The plan will be presented to the United Nations about February 17.

3. Marshall has hopes current discussions in London will settle the Palestine question peacefully. He does not believe the British plan strong military measures there.

Will Report on Elections 4. The United States will continue to maintain its diplomatic mission in Warsaw, although Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane will return to Washington soon with a report on recent elections which in this country held were not free and fair.

5. Russia wants to limit American to 15 or 20 correspondents at the Moscow Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference next month. The State Department has received 73 applications and is trying to persuade the Russians to increase the number they will admit.

6. The State Department will consider carefully a suggestion by Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.),

To Protest Terms

De Soragna Will Sign Italian Peace Treaty; Flies to Paris

Rome, Feb. 8 (AP)—Marchese Antonio Meli Lupi De Soragna, Italian ambassador to France, was en route today to Paris, where he will sign the Italian peace treaty on Monday and, if possible, will protest against its terms.

The government announced last night that the cabinet had agreed to plucking Italy's signature on the new treaty—subject to later ratification by the constituent assembly.

(A Yugoslav spokesman yesterday reaffirmed his country's intention of refusing to sign the Italian treaty Monday, when treaties for Bulgaria, Hungary, Finland and Romania also will be signed.)

Exhibition at Rudolph Galleries

"Spring Maneuvers," an oil painting by Mary Earley, is included in the paintings now displayed in the mid-winter exhibition at the Rudolph Galleries in Woodstock.

Mid-Winter Exhibition At Rudolph Galleries

Following is a review by Alexandra Padwa of Woodstock of the mid-winter exhibition at the Rudolph Galleries in Woodstock:

Woodstock in winter continues to display the produce of its art colony to the public through one of its admirable institutions, The Rudolph Galleries. Since the summer of 1939, when Rudolph made his debut as an art dealer in Woodstock with a sidewalk exhibit on the banks of Tannery Brook, his galleries, now rambling through the group of buildings, corner Main and Maple streets, have grown to be considered among the most important ventures of this kind outside of New York city.

His long and distinguished list of artists shows names which have been household words for years along with those of more recent vigorous arrivals. Future favorites, picked among Woodstock's vital art crop, are being continually added to the list. As a result, the exhibits at Rudolph's have both quality and freshness and provide a good opportunity to see a representative cross-section of our painting.

Leisurely Variety

The present show in the Corner Gallery is only a part of the winter exhibition, the rest of which is installed in the main house. As you meander through the corner building, the overall feeling you get from this exhibit is one of leisurely variety. Through intelligent hanging not only the highlights of the exhibit carry, but the rest of the paintings get an impartial and advantageous showing.

Two beautifully sure and restrained drawings by the sculptor Alfeo Faggi assert their high right among the many oils. Across the room, Paul Burlin arrests attention with the sonorous blues and greens of his sardonic "Wish You Were Here." Burlin also shows a gouache, ominous and strong in color. Beside Burlin's vibrant oil, hangs a small, quick, sensitive "Girl's Head" by Arnold Blanch, done in a sketchy, sketchy style. The Polish painter Menkes, shows one of the handsome and popular still-lives, which evidently belong into the happy category of paintings that almost anyone would find "easy to live with." This one has his favorite tiger-lilies, a yellow chair, a pink scarf, all painted with sophisticated ease to the delectation of his admirers. On the same wall hang an ambitious Nude by Lucile Blanch, abundant in allegory and in rosy flesh. At our request, Rudolph pulls out other canvasses by this talented, sincere and versatile artist, he takes this opportunity to inform us that at the present, the store-room houses about 600 paintings by his contributing artists.

Iowa Landscape

Stuart Edie has in the present exhibition a low keyed and clean-cut landscape of an Iowa farm yard. Also, two handsome arrangements, clear in color and form. All three, as always with Edie, very easy to take. Elizabeth Terrell shows a small delicately painted still life with a white pitcher and a glass. Next to it hangs one of the broadest and sensitive landscapes by Karl Fortess. Anton Resfregier, who has temporarily abandoned Woodstock and the East for San Francisco, where he is working for the government on his monumental "Post Office mural," is represented by a distinctive war canvas, dramatic in feeling and decorative in composition.

On the opposite wall, the Magafan sisters exhibit their romantic work. Jennie Magafan's windswept, lonely street has a hauntingly poetic quality. Ethel Magafan's lyric prelude is personal and intimate. In mood, "The Light" painting of Edward Chavez is seen in a dryly wrought arrangement of petrified wood.

Herman Cherry, in a boldly brushed still-life, endows some very lush corn husks with lusty animal life. His wife, Denny Winters, consists a snowy mountain landscape in direct and rich color. This vigorous duo is set off on one side by Fletcher Martin's Head of a Woman in blond monotone; and on the other side by a girl's portrait painted in the French manner with fine taste by Sydney Laufman.

Solid Painting Shown

Dorothy Varian shows solid and familiar painting of green apples on a very sturdy brown table. Little white Negro woman is done with warmth and competence. The admirers of Peggy Dodd's variations on circus themes will find her "Maxican" a very good example of this cycle. Madeline Shiff contrasts an early, carefully worked portrait with a more recent introverted landscape abstraction. On the narrow central wall hangs a pleasant flower piece by Charles Rosen. Also a Kingston Street Scene by the capable Florence Cramer. Margaret Lowenbrund's frontal and gray painting of the neighboring country life is there. And finally we end before the small seascapes by Henry Mattson, which rocks a little sailboat on its green and moody waters. Several attractive pieces of sculpture by Hannah Small are in the gallery and so are the distinguished ceramics of Carl Walters. An assortment of good watercolor too, by Charles Rosen, Lucille Blanch, John Taylor, Andrew Ruellan, Marianne Appel, Kurt Sluizer and others.

Arnold Blanch's handsome gouache of Key West is in the one of the two front windows of the Corner Gallery, the opposite window holds a highly finished landscape by Stanley Crane. So, right at the entrance, confronted by paintings of an academician and of a neo-modern, you are introduced to the variety and the scope of the show.

Reports Are Submitted At the Annual Meeting Of Kingston Hospital

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the year 1946 at the Kingston Hospital was the large number of patients cared for. A new record was established for the year. This high census has been a great strain on the personnel and also on the physical facilities of the buildings.

With this condition in mind a reserve fund for building and betterment has been set up. Contributions are being received and will be welcome.

During the year the hospital lost two members who had given valuable aid through many years of service on the Board of Managers. These were Judge Harry H. Flemming and Judge Joseph M. Fowler. Both found it necessary to resign. The hospital and community are deeply indebted to them for their contribution of time and talent. Judge Flemming's record included more than a quarter century of devoted attention. He served for many years as president of the Board of Managers.

Another great loss was the passing of Dr. George W. Ross, a loyal and earnest member of our medical staff, admired and respected by all, who gave generously of his services to patients and employees alike. — a truly fine gentleman.

New Board members elected during the year were Roy M. Sutcliffe and Fabian L. Russell. When Judge Flemming resigned in May, 1946, William H. Van Etten assumed the presidency of the Board of Managers and served until the annual meeting held January 21, 1947. The hospital has keenly felt the impact of increased cost of operation, but nevertheless, new equipment has been acquired. Among items purchased were two overhead lights for the operating room, one regular operating table and one orthopedic operating table. Also a microscope for the nurses school.

The work of re-decorating the rooms with a washable homelike wall covering proceeds as the census permits. Among the numerous gifts received, that of a motion picture projector and screen, given by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the hospital, was especially welcome. This was to augment the teaching equipment in our nurses school. Improving the education of the student nurses results in better nursing care for the patient.

Another Ladies' Auxiliary contribution was a linoleum floor covering in the male ward and three adjoining rooms, while on the private floor additional dishes and other necessities were purchased for the kitchen. All of this in addition to the Good Cheer and Christmas visits bearing gifts of fruit, cigarettes, etc., and the lovely decorating of the hospital for the Christmas and New Year holiday season. The Ladies' Auxiliary is a most important part of our organization.

The Nurses Alumnae gave $50 toward the $300 Scholarship Fund which the Board of Managers has established. A most valuable contribution came from Voltaire Local 381, Forty & Eight, American Legion. This was a modern type, iceless oxygen tent, for which the patients as well as the hospital staff are truly grateful.

Other friends were Robert G. Groves, who sent his check for $218.25 to provide an electric water cooler for the second floor corridor. Dr. Frank A. Johnston made it possible to redecorate the consultation room. Dr. Herbert Martin gave an operating chair. Dr. Dore S. Meyers gave an electric suction machine. Dr. Frederick Snyder contributed $50 to the Students Recreation Fund. Other donations included The Freeman Publishing Company $25; the Hiltbrant Dry Dock Company $100; Hinewater Lake Ice Company $50; Dr. M. Elizabeth Moore $500; Mrs. E. C. Chadbourne $1,000; and a friend $500.

From the estate of Miss Hattie DeLaMontanya a legacy of $500 was received.

The Managers are grateful for the thoughtfulness of friends in the community, the active cooperation of city and county departments, the high standard of professional care given by the medical staff, and the loyal support of the employees during a very difficult year.

WILLIAM H. VAN ETEN,
President, Board of Managers

Health for All

Getting Well From TB

Any person who learns that he has pulmonary tuberculosis is up against a big, tough enemy. Defeating it is no part-time job. Resting, following the doctor's orders implicitly and keeping a calm and hopeful mind can be the hardest kind of work.

Often one of the most difficult parts of the job is accepting the doctor's diagnosis of tuberculosis, especially if the disease is discovered in the early stage. The patient has no symptoms that he recognizes. He does not feel very sick. He sees no reason why he should go to a hospital. He may decide to "shop around" for a doctor who will tell him something different. He may try some quack "cure." He may decide to gamble on just staying home for a while and taking a little rest.

Within six months to a year the disease will usually have progressed so far that the patient cannot avoid seeing the error of his ways. At last he feels sick and eagerly seeks sanatorium care. Valuable time has been lost. The disease is so much worse that recovery will cost him more in time and money. He may lose his earning capacity and usefulness permanently and have to be supported by his family or the taxpayers.

The gambling habit is bad enough when the stakes are merely money, but when one gambles with his health, he is risking his entire future. The modern, well-equipped sanatorium or tuberculosis hospital, with its specially trained nurses and nurses has facilities for every type of treatment, and the best place for recovery from TB. It is usually unnecessary to seek a change in climate.

There is no short cut to recovery from tuberculosis. The patient must make up his mind to a long period of rest, probably many months. The sanatorium will teach him how to live in the present and future, so that his TB will remain under control. Almost all modern TB hospitals have rehabilitation workers to guide the patient's activities and, in some cases, to help him develop a new vocation suited to his physical capacities.

However, no patient is better off in a sanatorium if he does not follow the rules. It is the daily routine, the rest that is important. The "spoiled child" who cannot submit to discipline will find it hard to conform to the routine. The sensible person will be patient and cooperative with the advice, rules and restrictions which are not arbitrarily imposed but designed to help cure his disease. He will learn quite early that complete rest means mental tranquility as well as physical repose.

The tuberculosis patient should learn from books, from the hospital staff and from his doctor as much as possible. Knowing the "why" of his treatment will help him carry it out cheerfully and successfully. In the next article, influenza will be discussed.

Exports to Italy

Bern (AP)—The federal war food administration announced Switzerland could not trade grain for rice from Italy. Reports from Rome were that the Italian ministry of foreign trade had approved the export of 10,000 tons of rice to Switzerland in return for three times as much grain from Switzerland. The food administration said "we have the greatest difficulty to assure bread for our own country," but the administration would make every effort to get the rice in return for other articles.

Electronic Cockpits

New York (AP)—Big new planes due in service this year will provide no surprises for their flight crews. Electronic flight trainers will duplicate every possible emergency condition that the crew would face in actual operation. The devices, ordered by Pan American World Airways for its Boeing Stratocruisers and Republic Rainbows, will be replicas of the two planes hooked to controlling and recording mechanisms. Crews of three will be trained as closely coordinated units. The devices were developed by Dr. H. C. DeHamel of the Curtiss Wright Corporation.

WHAT IT MEANS

The Backlog of Dental Work

By ROBERT GEIGER

Washington—Dental statisticians have counted all the toothaches in the United States. They add up to a terrific headache.

One billion dental jobs have piled up among Americans of all ages. This is in addition to the new troubles that arise daily. Each year American children have six times as much trouble with their teeth as dentists can repair.

Besides that, the number of dentists is decreasing, and one authority believes American teeth may be decaying more than before.

Statistics of the U. S. Public Health Service say the repair of neglected dental jobs is a one—not counting the new tooth troubles discovered day by day—would require 800,000,000 hours of dentist time.

8,000 Dentists Needed

"At an annual rate of 1,800 man-hours per dentist, this is equivalent to the total professional time of 74,000 additional dentists over a period of six years," says Joseph W. Mountain of the health service.

The 1940 census counted only 70,601 dentists, or 53.6 per 100,000 population. In 1930 there were 71,055 dentists, or 57.9 per 100,000 population.

At the same time Dr. John W. Knutson, dental surgeon for the health service, says:

"There are no proved statistics available, but it is the general impression of most dental authorities that Americans have more tooth decay now than before," he says. Some authorities have estimated it might take twice as many dentists as exist to give Americans all the dental care they require. But Dr. Knutson says another solution is to increase the efficiency of dentists and to prevent dental troubles.

Dentists don't know all here is to know about causes of a tooth trouble. But they are studying the effects of diet, sunshine, drinking water and heredity, all of which seem important.

Sugar Is Blamed

Dr. Lon W. Morrey, dental health education director or the American Dental Association, says dental scientists agree that too much sugar in the diet appears "a major factor in dental decay." Dr. Allen O. Gruebel, also of the association, said dentists have successfully retarded "rimant tooth decay" by temporarily eliminating sugar and other carbohydrates from diets.

Dr. Morrey's theories would involve cutting down dessert, soft drinks, candy and gum. "We know we never can popularize that," he says, philosophically.

Another way of improving children's teeth is being studied. Several years ago dentists discovered that persons who live in certain parts of the nation—namely, Dent Smith county, Texas—had fewer cavities than persons in other areas.

Fluorine, a gas, was found in the drinking water of these areas. The public health service, the state of Minnesota and many other agencies have conducted studies that lead to conclusions that fluorine has a beneficial effect.

Says Dr. Knutson: "It appears that the presence of a small amount of fluorine in drinking water may decrease dental cavities among children as much as 60 to 65 per cent. Experiments now are being made in adding fluorine to community water supplies."

Low Cost For Child

Other experiments are being made in applying sodium fluoride to children's teeth. The Journal of the American Dental Association reported recently dental decay in children may be reduced as much as 40 per cent by this method.

In Minnesota the total cost of this treatment was only $1.60 per child. Three to eight painless treatments were necessary.

Dr. Knutson said within a year it may be possible to determine whether nationwide fluorine applications might eliminate a large portion of children's teeth troubles.

Arcaro Gets Gem Home Miami (AP)—Jockey Eddie Arcaro, who has been exercising for Greenleaf Stable at Hialeah, has ridden horses with a total winnings of $3,618,587.

Liberty Rallies To Down Middies; Here on Tuesday

Weaver, With 21 Markers, Surpasses Huffmire as League's Top Scorer; Ghear 16, Rienzo 14

The battle for first place in the second round standings of the DUSO Basketball League raged on today after both Kingston and Liberty recorded important victories over Monticello and Middletown last night. The Maroons whipped Monticello by 67 to 36 and Liberty rallied to turn back Middletown by 53 to 36.

Liberty Here Tuesday

The biggest scholastic cage attraction of the local season will be staged at the municipal auditorium next Tuesday night when Kingston and Liberty hook up in what will probably decide the second half championship. Both schools have won two straight in the second half. Liberty won the first round with five straight wins and will go into the game with a league record of seven in a row.

Pacing Kingston to its impressive victory last night was Big Ed Weaver who swished the cords for a total of 21 points. Ed tossed in nine fields and three fouls before turning the job over to Ward Dunham, reserve center. Weaver's 21 points placed him ahead of Don Huffmire of Liberty as the league's top scorer with 142 for the season. Huffmire collected 15 against Middletown to give him 138 to date.

Ghear, Rienzo Star
Weaver, who has been the bulwark of the Maroons' scoring offense all year, was backed up by Bobby Ghear, guard, and Mike Rienzo, forward, who assaulted the wicket for 16 and 14 points respectively. Murtie Kaplan, Monticello forward, led his club with 13.

The final outcome of the game was pretty clear right after the opening whistle. The forces of G. Warren King shot out to a 21-8 lead at the first quarter and piled up a 31 to 14 lead at halftime. The Kingston led a 25-point edge after the third stanza with the scoreboard reading 50 to 25. Kingston's passing and shooting were above par in the win over Monticello, one of the clubs which stands as a definite threat to second round contenders. The Maroons turned back Monticello in the first half by 49 to 36.

GRAZIANO'S BOXING LICENSE REVOKED

Rocky Graziano, middleweight boxer, bows his head at the New York State Athletic Commission office in New York City as attorneys argue a decision by the commission which revoked Graziano's boxing license.

Graziano-Zale Title Bout May Be Fought in Chicago

By SID FEDER

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Although Rocky Graziano may be barred for life in New York, his rich middleweight title bout with Tony Zale isn't necessarily off, because indications today were the National Boxing Association will not go along with his banishment and will sanction the match in another city—maybe Chicago.

The commission revoked Graziano's New York boxing license yesterday for failure to mount a couple of $100,000 bribe offers in (1) a fight in which he scored a knockout and (2) a fight which was never held.

All signs today indicated that the N.B.A., which controls boxing virtually everywhere else in the United States outside of New York, would give Rocky a severe reprimand but would not invoke such drastic penalty as lifetime banishment. Consequently it was freely forecast that the Graziano-Zale bout probably would get a "green light" this summer.

Already two different Chicago promoters, Ben Zeff and James Williams, have bid for the bout which had been expected to draw $400,000 in Madison Square Garden March 21.

Greene Will Listen

The N.B.A.'s capable president, Abe Greene, is planning to hold his own inquiry and ask Graziano to tell him the story. Then he'll poll the N.B.A. Executive Committee members to decide the course of action.

Rocky says he didn't report the bids to "take a dive" to Al Davis in 1945 and Ruben Shank last December because he looked on them as "a gag" made by "the kind guy" who would be "back five minutes later to put the touch on me for a loan."

The New York State Athletic Commission barred Graziano for this, although the last time a fix came up here, the fighter, in-came tried to tell it to the fistic fathers and drew a 60-day suspension anyway. That was in 1945 when Freddie Fudicia, Newark (N. J.) heavyweight and his manager, Willie (The Heard) Gilzenberg, wanted to report a bribe offer and were told "Commission Chairman Eddie Egan is too busy to see you." When the case broke, each drew the two-month suspension.

Still Has Nothing

Now the fight crowd is wondering if District Attorney Frank S. Hogan has made any further progress in his campaign to run down "undercover fight managers with gangster backgrounds." All testimony of the district attorney's assistants indicated the prosecutor has nothing.

Kayes Seek Tenth Straight Tonight Over Ellenville

Kingston Five Scheduled to Bowl Picked Team of Rondout Valley League Trundlers

Kaye's Sportswear female aces seek their tenth straight match victory of the season tonight in Ellenville, while the Kingston Five, also undefeated, engages a picked team from the Rondout Valley League in a Maych of Dimes show at the Ellenville Recreation.

The match will be the first in two weeks for the Sportswear girls who defeated Hudson in their last appearance. Albert Milliot, well known Ellenville bowling personality, who is conducting the matches, predicts the largest attendance in Ellenville history. He reports unusual interest in Rose Schatzel's appearance.

Supporting Mrs. Schatzel will be the usual lineup of Evelyn Moore, Dot Fleming, Marge Jensen, Betty Boyce and Charlotte Lapine. Jinx Ury heads the home town aggregation.

The Kingston Five engages an all-star squad picked by Milliot.

A four game Jones' keglers hold a lead over the Paladines as they hit the pins for the first time since their record breaking 3250 series against the Newburgh Grills.

Jones Dairy will use Ferraro, Schatzel, Hanley, Broskie and Tim to take the Paladines-Hangar tilt clash is a battle for second place and pits Tony Mack against Wally Gerken.

Louis and Godoy Draw Small Crowd And Few Cheers

Mexico City, Feb. 8 (AP)—World's heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis' first exhibition with Arturo Godoy last night in his Latin-American tour drew a small crowd which expressed little pleasure and considerable disfavor.

The great 60,000 seat bull ring was about one fifth occupied. There was no announcement of attendance or receipts but it looked as if everyone but the fighters lost money. They got theirs before they came here; Louis $50,000 and Godoy, Chilean champion, $10,500.

Louis and his trainers took passage on the first morning plane for San Salvador where Joe is to put on an exhibition with his sparring partner, Walker Hear.

The heavyweights boxed 10 two-minute rounds with 14-ounce gloves. It was a tame affair which contained very little slugging and no damage. Godoy, who showed a tendency to stick close to the champion and prevent him from opening up, unofficially earned the sixth and eighth rounds by a narrow margin. Louis outclassed the Chilean during the rest, except for the first and third rounds which unofficially were called even.

The small crowd, lost in the huge, chilly bull ring, watched the early rounds with silence and then began to boo and whistle, shouting for the fighters to mix it up. Louis weighed 213, Godoy 210.

The applause of the evening went to Nicolas Moran, 335, of Mexico, who knocked out George Hanford in two and a half minutes of the third of their scheduled ten round semi-final bout.

Haefor, who will put on most of the bouts with Louis on their Latin American junket said after the exhibition: "Joe is still too heavy, and he just wouldn't open up. Godoy, however, didn't appear anxious to give Louis much of a chance to show his championship style, nor did fans think he fought as though he were out to win."

Only Two Undefeated
New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Duquesne (14-0) and West Virginia (11-0) are the only undefeated college basketball teams in the United States today.

The Mountaineers were left at the top of the heap when Kirksville (Mo.) Teachers and Trinity (Conn.) lost their first games last night. Kirksville bowed to Springfield (Mo.) Teachers, 46-35, while Trinity bowed to Springfield (Mass.) 57-44. Duquesne plays at Alcorn tonight while West Virginia is at Pitt.

It has been estimated that the Soviet Union had 22,000,000 men under arms in World War 2.

Better Bowling By BILLY SIXTY

CALL THE SETUP: It pays to know the rules. There is Rule 8 in the American Bowling Congress code, for instance, which permits calling for re-setting the pins at any time one or more appear to be off the spot.

You are entitled to a perfect arrangement of the sticks on every shot, but it is important that you request the spot BEFORE delivering the ball.

Once the ball is on its way it is too late to recall the shot and the pins must be counted, except: (1) If on the first ball a pin was missing from the setup, and (2) If after the first ball, and before the next ball is rolled, the pinboy has moved or misplaced any pin. When a pin is missing, a complete re-spot is permitted. The ball doesn't count at all. And if a pin is moved by the pinsetter, it must be re-set.

Too frequently bowlers shoot at setups with pins off-spot, not realizing the importance of having the sticks in perfect alignment. To illustrate the point, if the No. 2 is moved slightly to the left it is out of "contact" for a strike because of a 1-3 pocket hit. The No. 1 takes out the 2-4-7 line of pins. The same is true on the right side. There the No. 3 is the contact pin to remove the 6-10. You've got to have perfect pin-spotting to get strikes, and it's good judgment to see that the pins are on the spot. When they aren't, call for a re-set.

Elks Hold 18-12 Lead Over Knights in Shuffleboard

The Elks' shuffleboard team holds an 18 to 12 lead over the K. of C. shuffleboarders Thursday night at the Elks' Club on Fair street.

The series will be resumed next Thursday night at the K. of C. Refreshments and a social hour followed this week's matches.

18 Horses Are Entered
Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 8 (AP)—A wide-open, 18-horse battle loomed today in the $50,000 mile and one-eighth Santa Anita Handicap at Santa Anita Park. Although the winner was a big question, track officials confidently expected a crowd of over 50,000 and a fast race perhaps threatening Seabiscuit's track record of 1:48.4-5.

In The Pocket

CHARLIE TIANO

THE ATOMIC AGE ARRIVES: Bowling's atomic age in Kingston is being ushered in with alleys 7 and 8 as the springboard, and at the moment there is no guarantee that Jones Dairy's all-time record of 3250 will hold out for another month.

Hotel Uster's brilliant 3158 series Thursday night in the Major League testifies to the uncertainty surrounding the 3250 longevity. Had Charlie Tiano been anywhere near his usual form, the Usters might conceivably have erased the Jones record. A 620 series—and Charlie is quite capable of that—would have enabled Usters to exceed 3250, and the Dairy men would be mourning the end of a short honeymoon with the record book.

Johnny Ferrara's 690 series reaffirmed his amazing accuracy on alleys 7 and 8. He is unbeatable on those planks. Johnny Schatzel, Charlie Manfro, "Pop" Myers and Freddie Ferrara share with "The Ace" the glory of the 3158.

OF MEN AND MICE: We sincerely hope the Usters' 3158 series not be a deterrent to the proposed match with the Colonials. . . . Certainly Harold Bromide and company wouldn't let a small item like a 3158 influence their decision to play for keeps.

John MacLellan, who had been praying for his first 600 in the Major League, had the misfortune to buck Jones Dairy's 3250 for headline space. . . . Mac deserves a better break. . . . Reminded us of the time the late Lou Gehrig hit four home runs in a game the same day John J. McGraw resigned as manager of the New York Giants. . . . Gehrig's heroic feat was virtually forgotten in the excitement surrounding the Little Napoleon's swansong.

WAR HORSE IS MISSING: Sam Riber, the veteran boxing announcer whose career has paralleled the history of professional and amateur boxing in the city, missed the tumultuous reaction to the Virgilio-Bifido decision. Sam has been a patient at the Benedictine Hospital for the past several days but we understand he will be released today. . . . His absence from the glare of the ringside lights must have saddened the sharp-voiced announcer, but he and Eddie Albright did the next best thing by tuning in on Dick McCarthy's blow-by-blow description. . . . Sam will take a convalescence period and probably miss a few turns at the mike but we hope his return in the city's distinguished succession of long-time night announcers that included Eddie Barton, George Abbott Brown and Harry Balogh, who later earned fame as the Madison Square Garden emcee.

There is a touch of realism to the old adage "uneasy lies the head that wears the crown" that pace setters in the Hudson Valley League appreciate. . . . Jones Dairy No. 1 risks its four game lead and record of 24 straight at home against the powerful Middletown contesters—Paladines and Hangar Grills—are scheduled for a fratricidal engagement on the Hangar lanes. . . . Both matches are scheduled for Sunday at 2.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM
Shuffleboard interest is at an all-time peak in Kingston. . . . Elks' Club officials are reading the S.R.O. signs for the Snules-Streib classic Tuesday night at 9 o'clock. . . . The Kingston Moose Club's shuffleboard sports are New York State Moose champions and will defend their title in the state tournament on Wednesday. . . . Al Cirillo has been signed by Jimmy Powers as a respondent for the New York Daily News, and that's the finest thing that could happen to New York's legion of bowlers. . . . Cirillo's stuff will appear regularly while Powers is vacationing in Florida. . . . The proposed Class C Colonial Baseball League which would include a team from Poughkeepsie is interested in a Kingston franchise. . . . Haven't they heard of the tempest raging now?

MICHAELS TIES SCHRAMM: Jean Mickey Michaels completed a sensational 20-game match with Mickey Schramm famous Eric, Pa., keglerette in a dead heat last week-end in the Pennsy city. . . . Miss Michaels, a 237-pin loser to Rose Schatzel, dropped 86 pins in the first 10 game block, was 139 pins down at the end of the 12th set and then started her rally. . . . She cut Miss Schramm's lead steadily with a 198 average. . . . The Eric skitterer missed in the eighth and ninth frames of the 20th game and when Michaels came up in the tenth, after Miss Schramm had rolled a 177, she struck out to strike out. . . . She DID. . . . Mickey requested a single game rollover and the $500 stake but Schramm said no and all bets were off. Eric sportswriters rejoiced and coaxed Miss Schramm, a 183-180 bowler, to roll off the tie but she persistently refused. . . . And so the seas will resume their feud in the near future.

Play Review

by SYLVESTER HOWARD

Are all young girls blonde? Do they all have southern accents? Do they always have curly hair? Evidently playwrights think so. It would be good sometime to see a play in which the young girl did not misunderstand everything her friend said. It would be good to see one who was not eternally thinking of things to keep her occupied until the end of the third act. Of course, there would be no play. When they are like Norma Krassman, new play, "John Loves Mary," it would be better not to see it. Mr. Krassman has invented a plot which serves to keep the audience guessing how much more ridiculous it can get five minutes after the curtain goes up. Everyone in the audience knows what is going to happen. The only suspense is that of wondering if the author might become original. He doesn't. There are two characters in the comedy who are genuinely funny. Tom Ewell has a role of a friendly but dumb young man. He plays it with great humor making one wish that there were more like him. The other member of the cast who seems like a good fellow is the senator, played by Loring Smith. Mr. Smith is hearty and frank, saying rough things to the rest of the cast. The other people are nothing but pretty props like the elegant hotel suite that they live in.

Smart comedies must be really smart. That is, the people must make clever observations on what happens and they must have brilliant solutions to ordinary problems. It is not enough for them to drink champagne and wear expensive clothes. No doubt there are not many smart people in the sense of high comedy but an author should not write about them if he cannot find them.

Veterans' requests for dental treatment on the basis of service-connected disabilities have just about doubled between September 1 and November 1, Veterans Administration said.

Camera Hunting Through The Zoo

The photographer who likes to take animal pictures (as who doesn't) sometimes feels that he has rung every change on the neighborhood cats and dogs and wants bigger, or at least different, game. He can't conveniently organize a safari to Africa or the Amazon. But there's always the zoo.

Just because the zoo animals are caged or behind a moat doesn't mean that they are all docile and love to have a camera poked at them. Even the zoo keepers assume they are still wild. With modern equipment a photographer needs all of two hands and the loss of one of them to a polar bear can seriously hamper his style. Be careful and follow the keeper's advice.

Look over the animals, study their personalities and habits for the most characteristic poses. Note the lighting out of doors and in the cages at various times of the day so that you can pick the best time for individual shots. Then take several pictures of each subject, and pick the best pose from the prints.

Camera Aid and Lighting

Use the camera you have. No one type of camera or lens is equally good for all places of zoo photography. Sometimes a long-focus lens or a wide-angle lens will be awfully handy. Reflex cameras are excellent for his type of work. But you can get almost every picture you want and good ones with your old reliable, whatever it is.

The lighting, in spite of your careful planning, will often be on the poor side, especially in the cages. For this reason a fast panchromatic is the best all-around film to use. Also pan film best brings out the tone values of fur and feathers.

Animals with heavy or dark fur always require longer exposures or more light to bring out markings and texture. Wherever possible, get into a position where back or side lighting will help you out and separate the animal from the background. Of course, few animals appreciate these fine points and you will have to rely on your own patience and ingenuity rather than their cooperation. Sometimes it will be necessary to use a flash to even up the lighting but animals do not seem to mind this.

How to Stop Action Since shutter speed cannot often be high because of indifferent lighting, stoppage action can also be a serious problem. Sometimes you can do it by waiting till that second when the animal changes his direction of walk and is almost motionless. Often an unusual sound (such as a squeak or hiss from you) will stop the animal and put him on the alert, well-poised for your picture.

PICTURE OF THE WEEK. Two features raise this picture out of the ordinary classes—the pose of the duck and her family and the reflections of buildings in the water. Both indicate a patient and alert photographer. The reflections give contrast. The setting is obviously a city park or zoo, not the country, and that story is told quickly and simply. The background of dark water sets off the white birds most effectively. Taken on Ansco Superpan Press film with an exposure of 1/60 second at f 22.

Photo Forum

1. What qualities should I look for in buying a good enlarging lens?

ANSWER: First of all, a good enlarging lens is designed for enlarging. It is not a camera lens of suitable focal length. Enlarging requires a lens made for maximum efficiency at ratios of 1 to 10 or 15. A camera lens is designed for ratios between 10 and 100. Briefly, other points to consider are: 1. A good enlarging lens should have a high resolving power (the number of lines per inch that the lens will clearly separate).

2. It should have a high transmission of light through the lens and film to the paper. 3. It should be designed for maximum flatness of field (to maintain the two parallel planes of negative and paper without distortion). 4. It should be fully corrected for three colors, coma, spherical aberrations, astigmatism, field flatness and zonal aberrations made up of combinations of these. Make the dealer or manufacturer prove the worth of his product. It's an important investment.

A Tip In Time

When the metal begins to show through on enameled trays, it can cause spots and discolorations on negatives and prints. Cracked enamel should be painted over with one of the paints made for the purpose or the tray replaced.

A metal eyeglass case with a folded piece of felt or velvet makes convenient carrying case for filters.

Note to Camera Fans

The Camera Corner is designed for your benefit. Do you know a lot of the questions but not all the answers? Send your questions to The Camera Corner, Grand Central Annex, P.O. Box 73, New York, N. Y. They will be answered in The Photo Forum or by mail.

Would you like to submit your own favorite photo for analysis in The Camera Corner? Send your best glossy print of it (no negatives) with technical data, such as camera, film, lighting and filter used, to the above address. If accepted for use, we will pay you five dollars.

The Kodak Table Top Tripod is again available. With an elevation of 8 inches, it is specially designed for extreme low angle shots and table top work.

The Enxepo Enlarging Exposure Meter will automatically indicate correct exposure time in enlarging. According to the manufacturer, it works with all kinds of papers with any lens opening, and with any enlarging bulb, no matter what its wattage.

Handle negatives as if they could never be replaced. As a matter of fact, no negative can be exactly duplicated again. Grasp them only by the edges and file them in envelopes to protect against scratches, fingerprints and dust.

Following discharge from the service in November, 1945, he rejoined Troop C and for a while was stationed with Sergeant Arthur A. Reilly at Lake Katrine, as a member of the B.C.I. ## Lewis Is 'Socked' After Broadcast

Friend of Elliott Roosevelt Delivers Blow When Argument Arises

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Radio Commentator Fulton Lewis, Jr., said he was hit on the jaw after a radio broadcast last night by a friend of Elliott Roosevelt after Lewis, Roosevelt and the latter's wife, former movie actress Faye Emerson, exchanged words in the studio.

Lewis said Roosevelt accused him of insulting his wife—and he said he then was punched by Dick Harriott, of the publishing house of Duell, Sloan and Pearce, publishers of Roosevelt's new book about his late father. The audience leaving the studio separated them, Lewis said.

Roosevelt later apologized to him, Lewis said, and he apologized to Roosevelt.

Lewis gave his version of the encounter, which occurred after a broadcast of Martin's "Meet the Press" program, in which Roosevelt was interviewed by newsmen, including Lewis.

Roosevelt questioned Lewis about a broadcast Lewis made in 1945 in connection with the Texas State Radio Network, of which Roosevelt then was a stockholder.

Mrs. Roosevelt accused Lewis of being a "punch line" and Lewis told her "you weren't in the picture at that time. You weren't too close to Elliott at that time."

Roosevelt asked Lewis: "Are you insinuating that my wife is a liar?"

Then the hitting episode occurred, Lewis said.

Harriott and Roosevelt, who left the studio after the incident could not be reached for comment.

In the broadcast, Roosevelt said the possibility he would support President Truman for reelection "depends on the position of Truman in '48 and on the policies and positions of the Republicans next year."

Roosevelt expressed a liking for statements made by Harold A. Stassen, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, but added that "I think it would be very unfair to that gentleman to ask me to come out and say I like him. I don't want to hurt his chances."

Rodzinski to Direct Chicago's Symphony

Chicago, Feb. 8 (AP)—Arthur Rodzinski, one of the world's leading orchestral directors, and until his resignation last Monday conductor of the New York Philharmonic-symphony orchestra since 1943, has been named to succeed Desire De Luca, musical director and conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Rodzinski came to the United States in 1926 from Warsaw to become Leopold Stokowski's assistant conductor with the Philadelphia orchestra.

De Luca, who came from his native Belgium to Chicago in 1943 as successor to the late Frederick Stock, resigned yesterday and is to leave after the close of the current season to conduct the May musical festival in Brussels and to resume his position as director of Concerts Du Conservatoire Royale, a leading Belgian orchestra.

80 of 100 Murder Trial Jurors Are Served by Sheriff

Sheriff George C. Smith and his deputies have had their hands full the past three days serving summons upon members of the panel of 100 extra jurors drawn Wednesday for attendance at court Monday, when the murder trial of T/Sgt. James McAlister will be moved by District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn.

In addition to having to cover all of the extensive terrain of Ulster county in serving these jurors the sheriff and his men have had to combat road conditions made more difficult by the frequent snow storms. At best the work covers long hours and many miles of travel.
